BILL SAKREN

How many times have you said that to yourself after running into an old friend after many years? We'll wager you've said it a thousand times—and so has Bill Sakren, creator of Alliance Review's newest cartoon panel entitled THEY NEVER CHANGE.

Bill's popular cartoon was inspired by his frequent meetings with former schoolmates or boyhood friends when he'd leave them, shaking his head and muttering to himself, "They never change."

Sakren a graduate of Pratt Institute in New York and the Julian and Collorassie Academies in Paris, has taught art and lectured at the Metropolitan Museum of Art and the Art Students League, both located in New York. In addition, he has an enviable reputation as an advertising artist and his cartoons have been appearing in the better magazines for many years.

Bill and his wife live in Kent, Conn., with their three young sons and as Bill says, "I'm afraid they'll never change."
